

THE APPLICATION OF THE EARNED VALUE METHOD IN KNOWLEDGE ACQUISITION PROCESS FOR IT PROJECTS MANAGEMENT

Summary

The article presents possibilities of application of the Earned Value (EV) method as an element of knowledge based IT project management system. In the first part the author briefly characterizes the integrated approach to IT project management. The next section contains the description of EVA/EVM concept and its application in IT project management. In the third part the author explains the idea of implementation EVA/EVM system as a tool of knowledge acquisition and management in IT projects. The finally section contains few conclusions – the most important is that the EV method can be one of the fundamentals of knowledge based project management (KBPM) concept.

Translate by Mirosław Dyczkowski